Title:

Aadhaar to Bank Account Linking / Seeding (For Scholarship & DBT)

Keywords:

aadhaar bank linking, aadhaar seeding, npcI mapping status, bank aadhaar link tamil nadu, dbt bank link, aadhaar scholarship bank link

---

Description:

Aadhaar ↔ Bank Account Linking (also called Aadhaar Seeding) means connecting your Aadhaar number with your bank account. This is mandatory for receiving Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT), scholarships, government subsidies, and other welfare scheme payments directly into your bank account.

Why It Is Required:

- To receive scholarship amount through DBT
- For government subsidy payments
- For pension and welfare schemes
- For LPG subsidy credit
- For secure Aadhaar-based payment system (AEPS)
- For NPCI DBT mapping

Where to Link Aadhaar with Bank Account:

- Your home bank branch (where account is opened)
- Any branch of your bank (if facility available)
- Internet banking (if bank supports online seeding)
- Mobile banking app
- ATM (selected banks)

Required Documents:

- Original Aadhaar Card
- Photocopy of Aadhaar Card
- Bank Passbook (some banks require copy)
- PAN Card (if required for KYC)
- Aadhaar-linked mobile number (for OTP verification)

Application Process (Offline – Bank Branch Method):

1. Visit your bank branch where account is opened
2. Ask for Aadhaar Seeding / Linking Form
3. Fill the form with correct Aadhaar and bank details
4. Attach Aadhaar photocopy
5. Submit to bank officer
6. Complete OTP verification (if required)
7. Collect acknowledgment slip

Application Process (Online – If Available):

1. Login to internet banking
2. Go to Aadhaar Linking / Update Section
3. Enter Aadhaar number
4. Submit and verify with OTP
5. Confirmation message will be sent

Processing Time:

Usually 2–7 working days.

Charges:

Generally free of cost (as per bank policy).

How Many Bank Accounts Can Be Linked?

• You can link Aadhaar with multiple bank accounts.
• However, only one bank account at a time will be mapped as the Primary DBT Account in the NPCI system.
• Government benefits will be credited only to the latest mapped (primary) account.
• If you link Aadhaar to another bank later, the new bank may become the primary DBT account automatically.

FAQs

1. Is Aadhaar linking compulsory for scholarship?
Yes, DBT payment requires Aadhaar-linked bank account.

2. What is NPCI mapping?
NPCI mapping means your bank account is registered in the NPCI DBT system for receiving government payments.

3. How to check NPCI mapping status?
You can check through your bank branch or DBT status portal (if available).

4. Can I link Aadhaar to two bank accounts?
Yes, but only one account will receive DBT benefits at a time.

5. What if scholarship amount not credited?
Check NPCI mapping status and confirm bank linking.

6. Can I change primary DBT account?
Yes, link Aadhaar to another bank account; latest mapping becomes active.

7. Is OTP required?
Yes, if mobile number is linked with Aadhaar.

8. Is biometric required in bank?
Usually not required; depends on bank procedure.

9. Does linking affect normal banking?
No, normal transactions are not affected.

10. What happens if Aadhaar not linked?
DBT scholarship amount will not be credited.
